UI/UX Designer – Slabstone

I designed a measurement and cost estimation tool for stonemasonry plants, overseeing the entire project from concept to implementation. Using the Tailwind UI design system, I ensured a clean and consistent user experience. I collaborated closely with the Product Owner and Full-Stack Developer to align design with business and technical requirements.

More about me

I'm a tech enthusiast who has spent most of my life exploring computers, gaming, and working with various tools, making me highly adaptable to different software and hardware. Beyond tech, I'm passionate about football, music, and animals. I thrive in team environments, approach work with dedication and attention to detail, and enjoy using tools like Figma, Wordpress, and Miro—always eager to learn and explore new ones.

I hereby give my consent for the processing of my personal data included in my Resume for the purposes of the recruitment process.
